BUT HALF A POINT IS BETWEEN TEAMS

Competition Between Members of Rifle & Revolver
Club Remarkably Close

Members of the Mt. Vernon Rifle & Revolver club met for their regular weekly shoot on Friday evening at their range in the basement of the C. of C. building.

The club continued the plan of shooting by teams inaugurated last week. When the totals were taken and the averages found it was discovered that McMillen's team led by one half of a point.

Taken on the score of the individual shooting the range work was somewhat below the club standard. But three members shot 190 or better while previous five and often six and seven have made that record in other contests.

Pipes and McMillen made a tie score, each making 191. McMillen, however, has a shade the better of Pipes the targets showing he had scored 12 bullseyes to 11 made by Pipes.

The highest score was made by Quidor who led the club with 194. Van Horn being next with 194. Quidor's range work has been showing a steady and consistent improvement for a number of weeks.

The scores made at Friday evening's meet are:
McMillen's Team: McMillen 191; Pipes 191; Russell 188; Woolson 163; team average 189.

Van Horn's Team: Van Horn 194; Van Voorhis 177; Quidor 196; McNabb 187; team average 188½.

ELY TAKES WRONG COURSE WITH COW

Clarence Ely, charged with the larceny of a cow belonging to R. J. Rinehart, was arraigned before Mayor Ilger in police court this morning.

It developed at the hearing that Ely had sold the bovine to Rinehart in April for $50. A cash payment of $5.00 had been made on the animal, since which time Ely claims Rinehart has paid nothing. Acting upon the advice of neighbors that the cow belonged to him until Rinehart had paid for it in full Ely went to Rinehart's place on Thursday and took the cow away.

Rinehart lost no time in making a report to Sheriff Lytle who went out and encountering Ely on the road in company with the cow placed him under arrest and returned the cow to Rinehart.

The relations between Ely and Rinehart appear somewhat involved and complicated. Rinehart having at his place some young chickens that are to be kept there, according to Ely's statement, "until they are weaned."

When sold the arrangement is the proceeds shall be divided 50-50.

Upon being advised he had taken a wrong procedure in the settlement of the matter of the cow with Rinehart Ely made a plea of guilty and was fined $10 and the costs. The fine was suspended.

Lewis Levering, before Mayor Ilger on a charge of operating an automobile while in a state of intoxication, made a plea of guilty Friday and was fined $10 and the costs.

RAINSTORM IS KNOX COUNTY VISITOR

Downpour Makes Optimists
Glad and Pessimists Sad
According to Viewpoint

Mt. Vernon and Knox county were visited late Friday afternoon and in the early part of the evening by heavy showers of rain. The life-giving moisture was welcomed by most for the ground was becoming parched and hard, and all growing things were beginning to suffer for lack of moisture.

As usual some eminent pessimists were to be found conspicuously in the midst shaking their heads sadly and lamenting over the possibility of damage to the wheat crop now ripening for the harvest. To their way of thinking the rain-maker had been just a bit over prodigal in his enthusiasm.

Some wind, a little lightning and less thunder accompanied the storm. While the storm was threatening in the afternoon some apprehension of a cyclonic visitation were expressed. The extreme sultriness with a certain significant appearance of the storm clouds in the south-west were portents that were taken to promise a destructive visitation. The storm appears to have been heavier in the southern parts of the county.

However the storm came and passed doing relative small damage, if any.

The members of the Boy Scouts troop had reached their camp near Fredericktown and had their tents up and were snugly and safely under cover before the storm broke in that vicinity.

A report was brought here that two bridges had been washed out by the storm between Mt. Vernon and Utica.
